NEWS RELEASE

National Registered Agents, Inc. Launches Compliance and Governance Application for Small Businesses, Company Guard®

NRAI provides leading compliance and governance solutions integrated with registered agent services and the critical delivery of service of process.

Princeton, NJ – July 20, 2011 – National Registered Agents, Inc., a premier provider of registered agent and compliance solutions, announced the launch of Company Guard®, its online small business portal. Company Guard® enables small business owners and entrepreneurs to protect their business and themselves by managing compliance responsibilities and maintaining governance best practices.

Protected businesses can now view entity information, service of process, officer and director, documents, contracts, and other business related information in a single location. The application also provides small business owners and managers with articles, content, video, and best practices for managing their small businesses. Most importantly, the new application is fully integrated with National Registered Agents, Inc.'s registered agent and annual report services, adding distinct value to our customer relationships.

When business managers do not comply with the statutes and laws that regulate their businesses, such as filing annual reports, they expose the owners of the business to risk, the risk of losing the limited liability protection of being a registered organization and personal liability. The goal of Company Guard® is to help business owners manage that risk.

“As the regulatory and legal landscape changes for small businesses, we develop solutions that make our customers better, more efficient organizations while maintaining compliance with regulatory authorities,” said Dennis Howarth, National Registered Agents, Inc. CEO and President. “We continually look for ways to deliver value to our customers and provide them with strategic advantages, making them stronger, more competitive businesses.”

Company Guard® is an information resource and compliance and governance solution for small businesses. Please visit www.companyguard.com for more information.
